THIS TIME?

Hope that peace in Europe could be maintained in some fashion by the demonstrable unreasonableness of war is being withered by the hot onslaught of militaristic fever.

Elements of reasons are being routed by blood lust. What seemed only yesterday to be insurmountable barriers to a major war—lack of money and political stability—have been transmuted crazily into motives for destruction.

Autocracy, feeding on the distress of confused populations, does not yield to logic. Autocracy is power; power is the ability to destroy. Autocracy and destruction are identical.

Government by consent, caught off guard by the sudden accession of government by decree, is being challenged in every quarter. The autocrats today, as always in the past, must rule or ruin. That is the only method their plane of civilization enables them to grasp.

Europe has dealt with the possibility of complete destruction constantly ever since the World war. It is true that the Treaty of Versailles settled nothing, except the fact that the war would be suspended till the combatants were ready to fight again.

For years, undercover warfare has been going on. In Spain, it has broken into the open, though on a small scale. Today, it is threatening at last to become general. The cry to make the world safe for democracy is being heard again. Americans wince at the words and shudder at the implication of horror they contain.

CATCHING ON

The Sioux Indians of South Dakota are threatening to dispose of their Black Hills property to Canada unless the government settles claims against it in their favor. Apparently, the Sioux have been reading American history.

It's not the first time peevish Americans have threatened to kick their government in the teeth by breaking off a chunk of the country and disposing of it in the foreign market. For the first half century of the union's existence, particularly in the territory west of the Alleghenies, disunity was not only a constant possibility but a probability. There used to be plenty of takers.

But, things are different now. Canada wouldn't be interested in the Black Hills, and the Sioux know it. They have a peeve against the government, though, so the old threat is revived—not because the Sioux have been reading history, but because they've been reading newspapers.

They're catching on to the tactics of a minority pressure group: Make a wild demand and holler like everything until it's less trouble for government to knuckle under than to fight it out. At last, the American Indian is beginning to understand what government is all about.

ALCOHOLISM

The conclusion of the WPA-backed study of alcoholism in Boston City hospital, that it has become a "chronic emergency," will get wide attention. It would be well for both schools of extremists, however, to note carefully that the researchers, two members of Harvard Medical school staff, found that alcoholism increased during the prohibition period, too, though not so rapidly as it increased after repeal.

Perhaps the most far reaching value of such a study is the answer it furnishes to a question that has stuck every generation since Cain and Abel's. "Am I my brother's keeper?" asked anti-prohibitionists when the nation was struggling with the issue posed by the 18th amendment.

They were looking for a direct answer, which they never found. For if one thing is plain it is the fact that alcohol is a constant social responsibility. Prohibition—a noble experiment—assumed there was a conclusive solution to the problem of intoxicants. Repeal assumed that prohibition did not—could not—be successful.

But alcohol is still a social responsibility. Those who use it to excess are a public charge. They must be kept by their brothers after they have ruined themselves, even though their brothers were unable to devise a way to keep them from harm.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, September 11

Stellar forces of a particularly stabilizing and steady influence are presaged for this day. There should be definite progress made in putting old matters, long stagnant or crystallized, on firm foundations for future soundness and enduring dependability. Good organizing ability and sound judgment will tell; also the co-operation of elders or old institutions. In private life be prepared for a sudden and possibly devastating romance. But on all sides the atmosphere of the mysterious, novel, inexplicable and unique abounds.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year in which there will be strong and dependable influences at work for a stabilizing of the fortunes, with increase in value of possessions and long required or inactive securities or investments. Crystallizations may break up to make way for definite and enduring progress. In private life there may be sudden emotional climaxes or romances of surprising and devastating force.

A child born on this day may be profound, studious, responsible and practical and, at the same time, romantic, adventurous and artistic. It may have strange emotional or psychic experiences or creative urges.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—Thoughts while strolling: Look up a picture of Queen Mary at 30 and you'll see a likeness of Mae West. And put a handle bar mustache on Harold Ross—as Life did—and you have Stalin. Never read a Somerset Maugham story without a lurch to pack the duffel bag.

Rhyme without effort: A letter from Lee Shippey always makes me feel skippy. Bill Farnsworth has become one of the rainbow shirtists, too. Most distinguished of the playwright names: J. Hartley Manners. Nobody can suggest caper more than the puckish Harry Evans.

Pianists with short stubby fingers: Percy Grainger, Godowsky and Vincent Lopez. You can depend on Walter Chrysler, Jr. always to have a celebrity in tow. Wonder if Gene Sarazen ever feels he might have played enough golf? Last of the rosy cheeks: Oscar of the Waldorf.

For a world's fair exhibit: Grover Whalen under glass in his morning regalia. Those sikipightly boys who round up at night at a certain Automat. Gene Tunney is about the only fighting ex-champion who hasn't opened up a cafe. To Irvin Cobb: You've been away from New York too long.

It took Maurice, the dancer, to swing a cane just so. Nobody can crawl in his shell awhile and pop out again all merry and bright like Alexander Woollcott. Carmen Lombardo sings as though he might be shivering on a cake of ice. Hot rival for Edgar Bergen: Tommy Riggs and his Betty.

Jack Dempsey gives a figurative finger snap for a restaurant hoo-doo by planning to open another expansive eatery on the site of the old Belmont Hotel. Geographically, the lot across from Grand Central should be ideal for such a venture. But two ambitious efforts opened opulently, languished awhile and soon shuttered. Dempsey calls it his East Side Branch. When a successful restaurant loses its patronage, the site becomes jinxed. Churchill's was an example. And many tried Moquin's 6th avenue stand.

Jack White, of the night clubs, is aside from being the most ardent Giant fan, the deffest feller of the heckler. He parries the verbal riposte with the skill of the expert fencer. And is best around 3 a. m. when the audience, a bit bedrunk, begins to shoot jibes from both hips. So far, he has never been worsted and he has faced crack hecklers. Julius Tannen was one of the fastest men on his repartee feet the town ever knew. And the late Grant Clarke had a trigger tongue in a battle of wits. There was the time Clarke took on Harry Richman in the latter's early cabaret days. After one of Clarke's sallies floored the singer, Clarke waited for the laugh to die and chirped: "Grant takes Richman!"

Texas Guinan was no slouch in a free handed swap of sarcasm. There was scarcely a night she didn't have a drunk or so to handle while parading her performers through their routine. Her most cutting thrusts were sheathed in a velvety voice that concealed the rapier. Oddly, she rarely offended, and invariably those scorched came back for more.

Not many cartoonists work in the newspaper shop these days. Most, as well as comic strip men, draw at home or at a studio. In other days the art room of a newspaper was the liveliest department. Especially Tad's. The cartoonist was almost always a fair-haired boy with the boss, and under no discipline.

The first cartoonist I ever saw in action was E. A. Bushnell out in Cincinnati. "Bush" seemed to us rimming the copy desk to lead the life of the legendary Riley, coming to work around 9, spending a couple of hours at lunch and calling Harry Brown, the editor, by first name. There were rumors he made $150 a week, a whopping stipend those days and not to be sniffed at today. After Bushnell came H. T. Webster, a strapping six footer, just returned from a trip around the world. Once in a quixotic fight on local bossism, our sheet imported the celebrated Homer Davenport. He lampooned the locals so fiercely the paper—with an eye probably on the ballyhoo possibilities—had him escorted to and from the office by a pair of policemen. It was about that time that I fell for the familiar ad: "Learn to Draw at Home" and began to look a bit pityingly on my fellow slaves of the news rooms.

Manhattan's most calloused week-end atheist is the Irish litterateur, Ernest Boyd. He has been a leader in the growing thought New York is the best possible summer resort. He refuses all invitations from friends to country homes for a week, weekend or even a day. He prefers to air his luxurious red beard in the breezes of Washington Square or in air conditioned cafes thereabouts. Boyd's beard along with that of Jo Davidson, the sculptor, are the only ones left in town.

SHORT BREATH

AS WE grow older we notice that severe exertion and prolonged exercise is difficult. Even the simple climbing of familiar stairs may cause shortness of breath. This is a condition we rarely notice in our youth.

Shortness of breath, or "dyspnoea", as the doctors call it, is a sign of some importance. It is a common symptom, usually disregarded or accepted as something trivial. But there is no denying that persistent dyspnoea may be sent as a warning. For example, it may indicate some disturbance of the heart. Do not misunderstand me—I do not mean that shortness of breath after exertion necessarily indicates heart disease. But what I wish to make clear is this: If you are troubled more and more with shortness of breath after the slightest exercise, it is well that you consult your doctor. It may be a sign of some minor disorder, one which will speedily respond to care and medication.

During the World War it was common to notice dyspnoea among the soldiers in the front lines. Under such circumstances it could be easily traced to strain, excessive fatigue and apprehension. In civilian life it is common to find dyspnoea among persons who suffer from severe emotional strain, worry, fear or any other physical or mental upset.

The sufferer may complain of a feeling of uneasiness or distress around the heart. He may become convinced he surely has some serious heart disease. In all probability all he needs is rest and relaxation.

Of course, shortness of breath in a child or a young adult is a more serious symptom. It must never be ignored. But it is much more common in adults and especially elderly persons. If the ankles become swollen and particularly if there is any pain or discomfort, associated with the shortness of breath, a visit to the doctor is extremely important.

Hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure or weakness of the heart, so frequently encountered in elderly persons, is a common cause for shortness of breath. Individuals afflicted this way should be restricted in their activity and placed on a simple and nutritious diet. If other and more prominent symptoms are present, it may become necessary to confine the patient to bed.

If this confinement is advised, do not accept it as meaning that you have a serious and hopeless condition. Bear in mind that only by complete rest in bed is the heart given an opportunity to rest and restore its strength. It is a safe measure that should not be neglected if it is advised.

G. O. P. IN OHIO ENCOURAGED

Republican National Committee Chairman Challenges Governor

Expressing opposition to endorsing Democrats who voted against the President on the Supreme Court bill, Hamilton said: "Let them say they are Republicans before we do that."

Hamilton outlined the work of national headquarters during the recent session of Congress, including inauguration of a year-round business research of national political matters.

Longer Campaign Needed
"You can't win a campaign in three months," the chairman declared, adding "there is a greater break-up in the Democratic party today than there is in the G. O. P." He predicted substantial advances "all along the line in 1938, and particularly in the Ohio senatorial and congressional battles."

"We can beat the federal subsidy, and the day isn't far off when Roosevelt will hear the voices of millions more added to the 17,000,000 of last year, reaffirming the principles of our party," he declared.

The keynote of a state-wide drive to capture the vote in Ohio was sounded by State Chairman Ed D. Schorr who said: "We must seek out the facts of the Davey administration and we must recapture the labor vote, the colored vote, and appeal to the women voters, the young voters and the first voters."

Regarding the labor vote, James E. Kinneson, Stark county leader, declared: "We in Canton and Massillon despise the CIO and its attempts at political and legal domination."

U. S. Official At German Congress

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 10.—Nazi congress orators shifted their fire today from attacks on democracy to accounts of progress under the Swastika — with diplomats from democratic countries as guests.

Yesterday Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels assailed democracy in a fiery speech.

Today Max Amann, president of the Reich press chamber extolled "the power of our National Socialist press" and Richard Walther Darré, minister of agriculture, recounted rising farm production.

Ten foreign diplomats arrived this morning as guests of Reichsfuehrer Hitler for two days at the congress. Among them was Prentiss B. Gilbert, charge d'affaires at the United States embassy in Berlin. His brief visit was sanctioned by the state department, although Ambassador William E. Dodd, now in America, objected.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her twin brother, Robert Miller, of Youngstown, was lovely in a cream lace floor length gown over satin, with shoulder length veil and Wallis Blue accessories. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Ruby Wender of Barberton and Miss Lillian Montgomery of Cleveland were bridesmaids, and Fred Brandfield of Wellsville was Mr. Nile's best man.

Miss Wender wore a peach chiffon floor length gown with harmonizing accessories. Miss Montgomery wore a Wallis blue chiffon gown, similar to Miss Wender's with matching accessories. Both carried bouquets of gladioli. Miss Helen Berg presided at the organ for the recessional and processional. Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. Nile left for a wedding trip. Upon their return, they will make their home in Wellsville.

Mussolini's Paper Accuses Russians

(By Associated Press)
MILAN, Italy, Sept. 10.—Premier Mussolini's newspaper accused Russia today of putting piracy into the Mediterranean.
Il Popolo D'Italia, in an apparently inspired article, charged that a "Hispano-Russian" submarine fired a torpedo at the British destroyer Havock, Sept. 1, off eastern Spain.
That was the incident which brought repeated pirate attacks on neutral Mediterranean shipping to a crisis. At the time there were broad hints in Britain that an Italian submarine was suspected as the Havock's attacker.
Il Popolo also blamed "Russia" for Spanish government aerial attacks on the Italian Cruiser Bar-letta and the German Pocket Battleship Deutschland in May. These incidents led up to Germany's shelling of Spanish Almeria.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Fresh tumbles of wheat prices carried the market here down about 2 1/2 cents a bushel late today.
As dealings approached an end, selling pressure on wheat increased owing largely to greater notice taken of possible use of the United States neutrality act in connection with the undeclared war in the Orient. It was contended that such use of the neutrality act might result in serious restriction of American export products like cotton and wheat as well as in arms.

At the close, wheat was 1 1/2-2 1/2
under yesterday's finish, Sept.
1.05 1/2-1.06, Dec. 1.07 1/2-1.08, corn unchanged or 1/4 lower, Sept. 1.06-1.05 1/2, Dec. 63-63 1/2, and oats varying from 1/4 cent decline to 1/2 advance.

Leetonia Mortician Is Keeper of Bees

LEETONIA, Sept. 10.—George Woods, Leetonia undertaker, didn't know until today that he had been a "keeper of the bees" for some time.
An eight-foot square comb of honey, weighing about 200 pounds, was found in Woods' home yesterday when workmen tore out a partition in one side of his house.

'Chute Jumper Lives To Tell Experience

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10.—David Binns, 23-year-old parachute jumper who fell with a plane 6,000 feet when his equipment became entangled in the plane's tail, was recovering today in a hospital. Pilot
C. W. Haney jumped with his own 'chute when the plane went out of control in a demonstration at a nearby fair.

Edward Arnold, Frances Farmer and Cary Grant have the leading roles in the drama, "The Toast of New York," which shows tonight and Saturday at the State theater.
Jack Oakie, comedian, is seen in a prominent role.
The romance of a calico peddler who rose to such financial eminence that he threatened to corner all of the gold in the United States in an effort to corner the affections of a girl is dramatically portrayed.
The photoplay is based on events in the career of Jim Fisk, one of SALINEVILLE, Sept. 10.—The country whose ledgermain in the money marts still reads like fascinating fiction.
No less amazing is Fisk's unconventional love for Josie Mansfield, lovely miss upon whom he squandered a fortune in an effort to make her the leading actress of her day.
Arnold in the role of Fisk and Frances Farmer as Josie Mansfield are brought together for an encore to their success in "Come and Get It."

Supporting the leading players in prominent roles are Thelma Leeds, former radio star who makes her film debut, Donald Meek, Paul Gulfoyle, Clarence Kolb, Douglas Woods and George Irving.
Dick Foran and Patricia Walthall will be seen in "Empty Holsters" at the Grand tonight and Saturday.

time. The body was taken to the

Clearly Defined SEATTLE, Sept. 10.—"And just what is your relationship to President Roosevelt?" a ship news reporter asked Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., as she passed through here enroute home from the Orient.
"We," she replied crisply, "are what are known as the Oyster-Bay-out-of-season Roosevelts. And then "the President is a fifth cousin of my husband."

Heels Don't Help

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10.—The advice to wear shoes without heels at least part of every day went out to women today from Dr. Herman Sonderling of New York, a speaker at the National Association of Chi-ropodists annual convention, closing today.

Japan Lands Boat Loads Of Troops To Aid In "Big Push"

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10.—Japan's streamlined war machine struck at stubborn Chinese defenders on all fronts today, placing Americans and other foreigners in serious danger from the spreading hostilities.
The new assault found China's armies holding virtually the same positions as when Shanghai warfare started Aug. 13.
United States marines guarding the northern boundary of the International Settlement were endangered when a Japanese shell fragment ploughed into the heart of the barricades.
Shrapnel sprayed the International Settlement, causing a number of civilian casualties.

High explosives rained down on the Whangpoo, Shanghai's outlet to the mighty Yangtze. One projectile narrowly missed a British destroyer. Another whizzed over the French flagship anchored across from Shanghai at Pootung.
Japan carried the warfare to South China ports with a bombardment of Swatow. Americans there took refuge on the U. S. Gunboat Asheville.
The first of 1,200 American war refugees left Hankow for Canton with a prayer that their train would not be bombed.
On the northern front, powerful Chinese communist armies of Gen.

Mao Tse-Tung were reported taking the field in Shensi and Shansi provinces to block Japanese advances.
Japanese rushed reinforcements both to the northern and central China war zones.
At Shanghai, troops from 30 Japanese transports as well as heavy artillery batteries were ferried ashore. Bitter engagements were fought on all sectors of the Shanghai front.
Despite increasing danger, many Americans insisted on remaining in China. It was estimated about 7,000 non-military United States citizens have not been evacuated.

Puzzles Provide Crochet Pattern

WEST HARTFORD, Conn., Sept.
10.—Mrs. William Prutting accidentally found a new use for cross
-word puzzles.
Looking at one without the aid of glasses she habitually wears, Mrs.
Prutting called a neighbor to admire the new crochet pattern she had found in the newspaper.
The neighbor set her right, but Mrs. Prutting decided to go ahead anyway. Now she has two holders crocheted from cross-word puzzle patterns—and very pretty they are, too.

For a situation like this we recommend Coopers Y-Front Underwear. It prevents squirming by giving snug, stream-lined fit everywhere—comfortable, buoyant support. No bunching, no binding, no buttons. Men squirm because underwear that's fitted only at the waist "gangs up" on them.

This two-piece Y-Front underwear offers many other advantages. Wears longer because uppers or lowers can be replaced separately. Provides extra back protection. Will not bulk or bind. Makes outer clothes fit better. Y-Front opening convenient yet cannot gap. Gives energy-saving support.

Try one suit of this new Y-Front underwear by Coopers. If he doesn't like it, return it and get your money back. Such is our confidence.

PLANES ADDING NEW LUXURIES

Tomorrow's Craft Will Carry 32-74 With More Comfort

(By United Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Major airplane factories on the Pacific Coast are competing with those in the east in construction of the airplane of the immediate future.

The one common feature of the new models, both in the west and the east, is an increase in passenger capacity from the more or less standard 14 passengers to from 32 to 74.

As to luxury, one of the planes being built will have its own private dining room.

Among the more conspicuous models is the DC-4 of the Douglas Aircraft company at Santa Monica, Cal. It is being built as the result of joint specifications furnished by engineers of the United Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., American Airlines, Eastern Airlines and Pan-Pacific Airways.

The plane will reflect the experience which all of these companies have had in flying for years.

General Tests Arranged When completed the DC-4 will be tried out on each of the airlines concerned and orders will be taken only after operation has proved satisfactory or perfected to the point where it is acceptable by all.

Essentially the DC-4 will be the big sister to the Douglas DC-2 and DC-3 models which are employed by some of the principal air lines throughout the world.

The new ship will be equipped with a tricycle landing gear, similar in principle to that installed on the new Stearman-Hammond safety plane. Power will be supplied by four Wright Cyclones, with a total of 5,000 horsepower, with a gross weight of 60,000 pounds. It will have a passenger carrying capacity of 40 persons for distances of 700 miles and berths for 30 passengers.

At the Boeing factory at Seattle, where many of the army's greatest planes and flying fortresses are manufactured, the Army's YB-17 type is being adapted for civilian use. The latter will be known as the Boeing Model 307 transport type and eight are under construction.

Can Rise 30,000 Feet

The distinguishing feature of this new plane will be provisions for reaching an altitude of 30,000 feet. Accommodations are being provided for 30 passengers in each. The big ship will have a wingspan of 107 feet, a cruising speed of 200 miles an hour, at sea level and 250 to 266 miles an hour at altitudes from 20,000 to 30,000 feet.

They will be equipped with four G-100 Wright motors that are expected to develop 4,400 horse power.

Among the super luxuries which these planes will offer will be provisions for super charging the cabins with oxygen at higher altitudes. Otherwise, in minor details there will be bigger sisters to the Model 247 already in common use on American Airlines.

However, they will be constructed with four engines, high wings, and stabilizing fins incorporated

Smart New Togs Vie for Favor Among Co-eds

With the coming of September thoughts automatically turn to the girl who is assembling her wardrobe for return to school. Here are three smart costumes ideally suited for the campus and practical for various occasions. Harriet Hilliard's ensemble, left, has sleeves trimmed with fur, dyed to match the color of the costume. The coat dress has a pencil-slim silhouette and is made of azure blue wool. A suede skull cap, gloves and purse match the dress. Mona Barrie has chosen a sophisticated outfit topped by a large black hat with peaked crown and wide brim. The dress is a bas-relief black crepe. Ann Sheridan, right, is wearing a new two-piece design of gray flat surface wool fashioned with three-quarter length bell sleeves and a swallow-tailed flared tunic. A matching gray felt hat, a mink scarf and brown suede shoes and gloves complete the costume.

Anti-Saloon League Working Quietly To Dry Up America

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. — The Anti Saloon League is working quietly in an attempt to dry up America again. It plans no effort, however, to achieve its ends through our constitutional amendment.

Instead, said Laurel Lindley, research secretary at the historic dry organization's national headquarters here today, the league hopes to outlaw liquor through local option elections and possibly by raising the issue in congressional and state legislative elections during the next few years.

Problem Unsolved Dry leaders contend, she said, that many persons formerly opposed to national prohibition now concede outright repeal of the 18th amendment failed to solve the liquor problem. "To the contrary," she said, "it was intensified."

The league contends, she added, that drinking among young persons has increased constantly since repeal and that present day "night spots" cater in many cases to youth. Miss Lindley said the Anti-Saloon League, founded in Oberlin, O., was presenting the argument that many former repeal advocates were saying, "prohibition was bad—but present conditions are worse."

Drinking Increases "The league is approaching its newest anti-liquor fight through arguments that the wet disregard promises that the saloon would not come back, that bootlegging would disappear, and that there would be less drinking," the research secretary said. League records contain statements that drinking has increased nearly 150 per cent among youth, that the number of retail liquor dealers have increased from 177,

Boys' Fast Color SCHOOL SHIRTS Full Cut, Well-Made 29c SKORMAN'S

600 in pre-prohibition days to more than 400,000, that federal officers "fighting bootlegging and lawless liquor number 4,500 now as compared with 2,500 at the peak of prohibition, that bootlegging and illicit stills represent 50 per cent of liquor sold, and that more women than men are in the bars of today.

Magnolia Village Halts Work on Dam

CARROLLTON, Sept. 10. — An opinion handed down here yesterday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Frank F. Cope granted the village of Magnolia a temporary injunction preventing start of construction work on a dam there in connection with the Maskingum flood project.

The village brought the action against the contractor, Nick Canci, under provisions of the Ohio conservancy act prohibiting building of any dikes or dams causing water to back up into a village or city until directors of the project have paid for use of the land affected and all incidental damages.

The village claimed the proposed levee would obstruct operation of the municipal waterworks, impair sewage disposal service, weaken the reservoir and injure value of property.

'HAPPY' MARINO TAKEN FOR 'RIDE'

Body Found Near Highway at Rogers This Morning

For where Sheriff Harry L. Gosney, Prosecutor Karl Stouffer and Coroner Arnold Devon planned to conduct an autopsy sometime this afternoon.
The deputies searched the district where the man's body was discovered, but found no gun shells or other clues. There were no traces of powder on the man's clothes, they said.
Youngstown police were notified in the hope that they might be able to identify the man since his suit bore the label of a Youngstown store. The Youngstown authorities immediately joined in the probe.

County's Second Murder
Today's victim is the second unidentified man found slain in the county since the latter part of July.
The body of a murdered man was found near Lisbon, July 27. He had been shot twice, once through the head, with a gun that had been later stuffed under his trouser belt.
In his pocket was a bus ticket dated July 4 for a return trip from Lisbon to Youngstown. He had been dead about three weeks when found.
County authorities have attempted for sometime to discover the identity of their first murder victim, but thus far have been unsuccessful.
At one time it was believed the Lisbon murder victim was Donald McLean of Beaver Falls, Pa., but McLean showed up alive in War-rensburg, Pa.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Anybody who can kick is welcome to try his hand in the North Carolina State backfield. Jimmy Kelly, the Greenwich village night club king, will start a racing stable with two dogs called "Dan Parker" and "Hush Bradley" after two well-known New York sports editors of the Red Sox is the laziest guy in the American league. . . he won't even tote a bat from the dug-out, but uses the one the batter ahead of him dropped at the plate. . .

Tale of two cities: On the same day 722 St. Louis fans watched the Athletics beat the Browns, 5-2, a crowd of 85,000 saw Jack Milne of California win a dirt track motorcycle race in London. . . one of the ugliest-looking freshman footballers up at Syracuse is Bill Eichenfelder, All-New York City scholastic tackle last year and a good one to keep your peepers on. . . Harry Lenz, the fight manager is going to take his crack lightweight, Spider Runyan, on a European tour. . .

In a track meet in Japan yesterday, the half mile was won by the with Oh, third. . . Ah was an also ran. . . Ernie Lombardi of the Reds hasn't made a sacrifice in four seasons. . . Clemson's footballers will travel 5,000 miles to Texas university and Nebraska are brooding a football home and home series to start in 1940. . . Huskers are tied up that far ahead. . . Max Schmeling's first tie-up bout for Joe Louis will be against Walter Neusel in Berlin this winter. . .

Two challengers—Pedro Montañez and Fred Apostoli—will be favorites over title-holders in Mike Jacobs' big carnival of champions, Sept. 23. . . Arthur Rooney, nephew of the fellow who has been giving the rook-ies headaches, is a backfield candidate down at North Carolina State. . . Harry Gumbert, Giant pitcher, lives only a few miles from Pittsburgh, but never saw Forbes field until he went there with the Jints. . .

Mike Jacobs said today he offered Freddy Steele $40,000 to fight Fred Apostoli for the middleweight title. But Steele turned it down. . . Why? . . . Best move the Dodger directors have made in a long time was the re-signing of Burleigh Grimes. . . Joe McCarthy says there'll be no dead ball in the league next year. . . If there is, the Yanks are sunk. . .

The Washington football Redskins should credit Branch Rickey with an assistant. . . Sammy Baugh. The passing fool from Texas Christian, signed with the Redskins. . . Later he signed to play football with the Cards. . . Latter contract stipulated there would be no football. Along came Rickey. "We want no contract breakers," he told Baugh. . . You report to Washington. . . Sammy did. . . incidentally, he has one of the best contracts in the league—two seasons at 7,500 potatoes per. . .

Tommy Farr says the real reason he broke with Manager Ted Broadbent was that Ted did nothing to cut his eyes on the night of the Louis fight. . . To which we say nerts. . . Col. Ruppert says Tony Lazzeri gets a change to manage a big league ball club, will release Tony outright. . . which is a right-about-face from the attitude the Yanks took when Cleveland wanted Tony a year or so ago. . .

For versatile guys we recommend Tony Falkenstein, star fullback at St. Mary's. . . During the summer he teled as a teamster, longhoreman and steel worker and belongs to two (CIO and one AFL unions. . . The only fellow we know who

Salem Poloists Seek To Halt Pittsburgh Club's Win Streak

NORTH HILLS TO APPEAR AGAINST SALEM POLOISTS

Pittsburgh Club Boasts Victory String of 15 Games

Boasting a string of 15 consecutive victories, the Pittsburgh North Hills Polo club goes after its 16th straight win in its second game of the season with the Salem Polo club at 3 p. m. Sunday at Old Fairgrounds field, located at the eastern end of Maple st.

Primed for the important contest by two weeks of steady practice, the Salem poloists are all set to halt the North Hills victory string, which is the longest ever compiled by a polo team in the tri-state district.

The Pennsylvanians handed the Salem club a 12 to 9 defeat in the first game between the two teams two weeks ago. Raymond Mott, No. 1 man for the Salem club, was injured in this game when hit in the arm with a mallet, but has since recovered from the injury and will be back in action against the Pittsburghers Sunday.

Mott will alternate at the No. 1 post with Owen Lewis of Alliance, who was added to the Salem club's roster several weeks ago. Lewis is classed as one of the best players in Alliance, which now has two polo teams and about 20 poloists.

Brook (Pete) Votaw and Jim Pidgeon will hold down the No. 3 and No. 2 positions for Salem. Votaw has been showing constant improvement in his mallet wielding and in his last game, scored most of the Salem team's goals.

Pidgeon ran into a playing slump during the last month, but in practice sessions this week has shown that he is again in top form.

Pittsburgh is expected to bring two full teams to Old Fairgrounds field for the game. The North Hills club used two different squads against Salem in the previous game, changing the lineup in each chukker.

Leading the Pittsburgh aggregation will be Davey Smith, the top-ranking poloist of the Smoky City. Other players who will appear in the game are Willy Brook, Hal Everett, Jim Evans, Bill Long and Ed Wright.

Smith, Brook and Everett will probably form the North Hills starting lineup.

Officials for the game will be Jack Hendricks, referee, and Les Cobbs, timekeeper. A public address system, furnished by Russell Jones, will be used to keep fans familiar with the players and action.

Deming Pitchers Down Club Team

Deming Co. horseshoe pitchers gained revenge for a previous defeat when they tossed the Salem Country club tossers, 13 to 12, at the Country club courts last night.

The Country club won the first match between the two teams, played several weeks ago.

Lineups for last night's contest were:

Country club—Walter and Bob Hiltbrand; Ralph Snyder, Jr. and Tont; McConnell and Bob Snyder; Ralph Snyder, Sr. and Birkheimer.

Demings—C. Brown and O'Connell; Fites and Bowden; Sanders and Lottman; Ashman and H. Brown; Carlisle and Burke.

Booth's Football Number Set Aside By Coach Schmidt

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10.—Coach Francis A. Schmidt today withdrew from Ohio State university's football equipment the jersey numbered "47".

The number was that worn by Halfback Bill Booth, of East Liverpool, who was killed last Saturday in an automobile accident. It will not be assigned to any other player.

In a similar tribute, Baseball Coach Floyd Stahl said he intended to withdraw Booth's baseball uniform number, "23", from use next spring.

Mid-Atlantic Loop Playoffs All Even; Canton, Akron, Win

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10.—There'll be no runaway in the Mid-Atlantic league playoffs.

The champion Canton Terriers and fourth place Akron Yankees sounded that warning today to the Portsmouth Red Birds and Springfield Indians, winners of the first game in each series.

Canton lambasted the Red Birds 7 to 1 in the second contest last night to square their series and the Yankees pushed across two runs in an extra inning to take the Indians' measure 8 to 6, squaring their series too.

The winner of three games takes each series. Then the two victors meet in the final set of games.

Young Frank Parker Still Mystery To Tennis Ranks

Experts Can't Figure Out How He Wins, But He's In Semi-Finals of National Tournament

BY GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The boy who "hasn't got a thing"—Frankie Parker—will be on exhibition again here today in the semi-finals of the national tennis championships.

Frankie is one of the most unusual exhibits in tennis. He can't play a lick. All the experts agree on that. Yet here he is in the semi-finals again, for the third straight year, and he's in there with three gentlemen who undoubtedly are pretty good—Donald Budge, Gottfried Von Cramm and Bobby Riggs.

It's a strange case, indeed. Even if the 21-year-old Frankie gets his shorts licked off by Budge today—as he doubtless will—it's still a major mystery to the average observer how he gets as far as he does.

He trimmed Johnny Van Ryn in three sets yesterday, and here were the first three audible reactions in the press marquee:

He's terrible!"

"Dorothy Bundy could beat that guy."

"How does he do it? He hasn't got a forehead or a service."

On the theory, therefore, that a youngster who can win himself second national ranking must have something besides an expensive racquet, the case was taken to the original Parker man, old Doc Mercer Beasley.

There's no mystery about it," Parker's mentor declared. "Frankie keeps himself in shape, he has as good a backhand as there is in the game, not excepting Budge's, and he out-thinks the other kids. Know why he looks so colorless out there?"

That, the Doc was told, was precisely the kernel of his conversation.

"It's because he's concentrating every second on his opponent's weakness, even between games," said Beasley.

Today's top match promised to be that between Von Cramm and Riggs, with the German a slight favorite.

In the women's department, Helen Jacobs faced Jadwiga Jedzejowska, the larruping Pole, and Dorothy Bundy, heroine of Wednesday's victory over Alice Marble, risked her newly-won eminence against Anita Lizana, the burn-haired Chilean.

TIGER MANAGER HANGS UP MITT

Cochrane Ends Playing Career; Will Just Be Pilot

Old pop time marked up the final out for one of baseball's grander playing careers today.

Mickey Cochrane was definitely and officially through as a catcher: In the future, he'll be bench manager only for his Detroit Tigers.

And all over the big leagues, the reaction was the same:

"He was a great guy while he had it."

Mickey is one of the fellows who makes baseball the national pastime. He was the sparkplug of one world championship team and backbone and manager of another. But, in addition to all that, he's a "right guy."

Officially, he's Gordon Stanley Cochrane. But everywhere he's been Mickey throughout his 12 years in the big time. His 34 years and the effects of a "beanball" that fractured his skull early this season have made him hang up his mallet and mace for keeps.

Yesterday he wrote fits to his playing career by signing a new contract as non-playing pilot of the Tigers for next season.

In his 12 seasons under the big tent, he's batted 320 in 1,455 games and has driven in 820 runs. He's been in five world series, three as pilot of his own Tigers.

While Mickey prepared to leave tonight for a tour of Europe, the rest of the big time dug in again for the stretch drive.

In the National league, the Giants were three games in front by virtue of a split in their double-header with their best-loved "haters", the Brooklyn Dodgers, yesterday. Carl Hubbell was belted, 5-1, in the opener, but the New Yorkers came back to take the nightcap, 9-2, with Master Melvin Ott whacking four hits.

This even break boosted their league edge a half game since the Cubs finally lost their jinx hold on the Cardinals and were given a thorough going over, the Gas House Gang, winning 8-2 behind Lon Warneke.

The Red Sox stopped stooging for the Yankees for a day and hammered out a 13-7 victory over the American league leaders with a 16-hit attack. This defeat, coupled with the Tigers' 10-9 victory over the Indians, cut the Yankees' pace-setting margin to 11 games.

A single by Billy Rogell in the ninth, with the bases loaded, brought the Tigers in.

Dutch Brandt's four-hitter gave the Pirates a 1-0 decision over the Cincinnati Reds. Vince DiMaggio's three-run homer enabled the Boston Bees to win over the Phillies by a 5-3 margin.

The Senators slugged the Athletics twice, 13-6 and 12-10, with a total of 30 hits. The White Sox outlasted the Browns, 9-8.

PANTHERS HAVE GOOD MATERIAL FOR GRID TEAM

23 Lettermen Available To Sutherland For His '37 Team

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 10.—With 23 lettermen on hand, the plight of the sophomores on the 1937 Pitt varsity is not exactly a happy one as the Panthers continue work on their hilltop campus practice field.

With eight Rose Bowl starters, five others good enough to start major games in 1936, two 1936 regulars, and eight other lettermen ready, Jock Sutherland doesn't have to worry much about his sophomores this fall.

But Jock Sutherland is a worrying man, and he has a habit of keeping his eye on the year ahead.

Pitt will lose heavily this year by graduation, and men must be trained this season to step into their places. For this reason the sophomores will receive plenty of attention, and will be sent into action as often as possible.

Johnny Dickinson at left end was a high school halfback, but his speed and pass-catching ability will make him more valuable at a terminal.

Facing a wholesale loss of tackles, Sutherland is going to work hard with Frank Kristufek, a big 200 pounder who never played football until he came to Pitt and with Ralph Hafer, a converted end, weighing about 185 pounds.

The one who shows up the best is likely to land a second team job this fall, and will be given preference over senior reserves whose period of usefulness is limited.

Despite the number of crack guards on hand, Harold Klein, a rugged blond, is going to travel with the varsity most of the season, and will be shoved into action often.

There are two good sophomore centers. Carmen Etze is big and willing, but lacks speed and mechanical certainty, and Dick Fullerton is fast and scrappy, but lacks weight.

Larry Peace is the outstanding first year back. He is big, a good pass receiver, and fast. Right now he is slated to understudy Hal Stebbins at the right wingback position, insuring him of lots of experience.

Dick Cassiano, lightweight speedster and passer, has to play behind Goldberg and Urban at left half, but he will make the trips and be slipped into the fray on every possible occasion.

Bill Farkas, a husky kid who was an end of the fresh squad has the call to work behind Patrick and Stupulis at full, and will be groomed for the starting post a year from now.

With Michelosen and Chickernoe on hand, all Bill Kish or Emil Naric can hope for is the third string job at quarter this year. One or the other must be ready for 1938.

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 10.—The annual September masters' tournament held each year at Valley Golf links will be held Sunday, Sept. 19. It will be 36 holes, 18 in the morning and 18 in the afternoon, with a banquet at noon.

Those eligible so far are as follows:

Earl Patterson, the present titleholder; Dave Wolfgang, Robert Regal, Everett Warrick, Dick Johnson, T. A. Renkenberger, Jr., Graydon Metz and George Hoover.

Riflemen Compete

CAMP PERRY, Sept. 10.—Approximately 1,200 marksmen began firing today in the national rifle team match, the final event of the three-weeks program of the national rifle matches.

The firing will be completed tomorrow.

Fight Results

Portland, Me.—Lou Bruillard, 165, Worcester, Mass., knocked out Ro Williams, 167, Chicago (2).

Big Ten And Notre Dame Football Teams Start Practice For 1937 Campaign Today

By WILLIAM WEEKES

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Public relations directors of the Big Ten and Notre Dame give the 1937 football season to the athletes today.

The public relations boys have been telling the world for a month how tough things are going to be at their institutions this season. Tomorrow, close to 600 aspirants for regular jobs on varsity teams will go to work in the first practice session of the campaign.

In eight Big Ten camps and at Notre Dame, the aim will be to start something capable of causing trouble for Northwestern, the 1936 conference champion, and Minnesota's Gophers, whose great victory string was snapped by the Wildcats.

Early figures indicate Minnesota should regain the conference title, with Northwestern making a rousing bid to retain it. Coach Bernie Bierman's sixth Gopher production figures to be another one of those powerhouses, in spite of the loss of Ed Widscheth, Bud Wilkinson and Julie Altonse, first rank stars.

Northwestern lost most of its pair of crack lines, but faces the season about as well fixed for backs as any team in the league. Coach Lynn Waldorf, embarking on his third season, will build around such stars as Don Heap, Fred Vanzo, Bernard Jefferson and Bob Swisher.

Coach Francis Schmidt, in charge at Ohio State for the fourth season, must find backfield talent, particularly at left half, to use his "razzle-dazzle" offensive system, and come up with linemen of the caliber of Inwood Smith, Charles Hamrick and Merle Wendt, all graduated, to remain in the league's top flight.

In spite of the loss of Head Coach Noble Kizer, who has been given a leave of absence to recover from a kidney ailment, Purdue's Boilermakers again figure to be among the contenders. The Boilermaker attack will feature Cecil Bell, one of the Big Ten's most brilliant backs.

The early darkhouse group includes Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

The Badgers, with Harry Stuhldreher starting his second year, expect to be faster and more certain in handling the Notre Dame style of defense.

Bob Zuppke will head into his 25th season at Illinois, not saying much, but smiling. For the first time since 1932 he figures to have heavyweights on his squad of 25 instead of light heavies and middleweights. Bo McMillin has invited only 42 players to Indiana's opening drill, but expects to make trouble from one end of the schedule to the other.

Michigan's hopes apparently rest on improved line maneuvers brought to Ann Arbor by Hearty (Hunk) Anderson, former Notre Dame and North Carolina State head coach. Harry Kipke starts his ninth season as head man.

Iowa, with Ira Tubbs starting his first season, apparently lacks a lot to be the source of such trouble to opponents. Sixty-one men will answer the call at Iowa City, headed by Captain Homer Harris, crack Negro end. Chicago prospects look poor.

Adding to the attractiveness of the twin cards is the fact that they will be of tremendous importance in the pennant race, and that the flag chances of the Cubs and Giants will depend in large measure on what they do against the Pirates.

"THE CAPTIVE BRIDE"

by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

CHAPTER XLII
Denny, half hidden by the window hangings in the darkened card room, heard the men's tiptoeing progress toward the stairs.

Shortly after, Bourne, with Tong following, came downstairs again. From her dark point of vantage, she could see him as he entered the living room. In his lean face and glowing eyes there was a curious radiance, unusual and startling.

He stirred the fire, threw on a fresh log, and stretched his body out on one of the couches. Graceful and relaxed, his hands clasped behind his head, he lay there watching the firelight play on the portrait of Sylvia. Tongass sat with his muzzle on his master's knee.

The crackling of the fire and the ticking of the clock were the only sounds in the room.

Denny was about to attempt a noiseless exit through the hall door, when Bourne reached into his shirt pocket and drew forth a small, leather-backed photograph holder. He opened it at an angle that hid from her the two pictures inside and lay regarding them. She knew she should not watch him now, but for the moment was unable to divert her gaze from his face, that had grown tender in a way she had never seen before. Slowly he lowered the pictures to his lips in a lingering, wistful caress.

"Mush!" was Denny's disdainful mental comment. But a sharp pang ran through her. Whose likeness could bring that look to this man who was her husband? Intuition answered her. He was dreaming over the picture of his "ideal woman"—that girl he had let go because he could not possess her fully. . . . He was longing for her every instant of the time he had been married to Denise Keith! A hot, unreasonable resentment flooded her. Her hands contracted into hard fists.

"But why should I care!" she thought. Nevertheless, her fingers unclenched themselves reluctantly and she was conscious of a queer, emotional deflation. She wrenched her gaze from Bourne's outstretched figure, a little ashamed of herself as she realized she had been spying upon him.

Very cautiously, but forgetting her long, trailing sleeves, she began to move through the darkness, her hands out in front of her. Something hit the floor with a muffled crash. Her sleeve had caught and overturned a smoking stand. Almost at once, Bourne had leaped from his couch and was standing in the doorway.

"Oh, it's you, White Water! I thought every one was in bed long ago."

"I imagine every one is, except myself and you." Let him think what he would, she would make no explanation of her presence here. "Splendid!" There was a laughing elation in his low tones. "I confess I was disappointed when I came home and found that my wife was not on hand to wish me a Happy New Year. But now—to find you waiting for me after all! Delightful! Won't you come in and join me by the fire?"

Waiting for him! He would think that, the egotist! Denny vowed she would sweep through the door and go immediately to her room, leaving him to dream of that other woman whose picture he carried; but a feminine curiosity, spiced with expectancy, held her for a moment. She had never seen him, like this before. The radiance of his face, the lessening of restraint in both his movements and his voice, made him seem years younger—and infinitely more attractive. "Ah, you hesitate, Denise! You think I'm not strictly sober! Well, as a matter of fact, O Lady of Multitudinous Charms, I am not. But even in my cups I'm tractable and gentle." He smiled, a little mockingly. "You need have no fear of me, I assure you."

Denny thought, "How dare he imagine I'm afraid of him!" And with this excuse, to herself she stepped, with conscious dignity, into the living room and paused to sweep him from head to foot with a look of supercilious appraisal that dwelt, slightly, upon the volcanic hues of his tie and the bright flash above his flat-tips.

He met her look by placing a hand on his heart and bending low in exaggerated obeisance. "Welcome and a right joyous New Year to your ladyship," he declared. "Thou lovest not honor alone, but beauty and light to this, our humble abode." The flourish of his words and manner seemed suddenly to cloak him in the ribboned satins, the powdered wig, the audacious decorum of the Reval Theban whose miniature she had scorned.

He came upright, his sparkling, challenging glance flicking hers. "Now is the measure of our felicity indeed complete. What more could mortal man desire? A sturdy roof-tree; a blazing log! a faithful hound; and—capitulum of perfection!—loving—pardon, lovable is the word—a lovable wife to complete the enchanted circle of golden fortune! Sweet lady, permit me—"

He was offering his arm with elaborate formality.

The compelling charm of the fellow's smiling almost swept Denny into joining in his nonsense. She had to turn quickly with a lift of the shoulder to hide the laughter that twitched at her lips. And then, in order to keep her back to him, she walked over to the radio and clicked on the switch. A waltz came through, low and clear, with a man's voice singing:

"I will gather stars out of the blue, For you, for you. . . ."

"Denise. . . ." She turned to find him beside her, that luminous look on his face. His next words came to her with a little shock of surprise. "Your eyes are very lovely. . . . They glow. They're like smoking seas of jade, with a hint of sunlight on the other side."

Against her will his gaze held hers. His slow smile seemed to unfold her tenderly, possessively. Under its spell she felt herself growing faintly dizzy, and as from a distance she heard his voice—low, beguiling, disarmingly gentle: "You are beautiful, Denise—slim and pliant and yielding in that velvet gown. . . . Tonight we're alone in this old room your father loved; in this room where he used to talk to me about you. Couldn't you forget, for a little while, that you hate me? . . . Couldn't we dance—just Denny and Revelry Bourne?" His hands were extended invitingly. She was intensely conscious of his near presence—masculine, warmly magnetic—drawing her to him.

It was with a wrench of the mind that she took charge of herself. "Good heavens!" she thought furiously at her momentary weakness. "I've been so long away from a society where pretty speeches are common that I get fussed by the first bit of flattery he tenders me." Then she remembered that this man, her husband, only ten minutes ago had been yearning over the picture of another woman; and, remembering, grew indignant because he had dared to turn from dreams of his unattainable ideal to amuse himself with her. For a second she considered avenging herself by dancing with him—making herself charming and provocative as she well knew how to be; and then, in smiling indifference, withdrawing to leave him hungry and restless and aching for her.

But she knew she could not quite trust herself to maintain such a program, once she allowed Revelry Bourne's arms to close around her. The slightest physical contact with him changed her, swept her out of herself, wiped away her mind.

So now she shook her head, smiling a little. "Cinderella said: 'after midnight,' she said; and evaded him by stepping to one side and going to the chair Rio had vacated."

She sank into it, mechanically taking up the book she found there, and pretending to read.

After standing a moment, one finger moving reflectively along his lean jaw, one eyebrow cocked in whimsical bewilderment, he sauntered over and stood before her. With the air of one communing with himself, he asked, "I wonder, does she really find me so repellent, or am I just being discipline for the good of my soul?"

Denny, ignoring him, turned a page.

He buried a sigh of resignation and sat down on the couch nearest her chair. Tongass squatted on his haunches between his master's knees and, seemingly in the same mood, raised dolorous eyes and placed a limp paw in the hand which Bourne extended.

"Yes, Tong. At last it's borne in upon me that we are being snubbed by the very nicest person of our acquaintance. But devil take me if I know why. I thought we were unusually agreeable tonight. Of course, I'm slightly elevated by drink, and in such a condition I'm inclined to see all my ideals materialize. You can't follow me in that, I know, old-timer, because the pleasing illusions of the bottle are a closed book to you."

Denny, who was always amused by his conversations with his dog, stole a cautious glance at him.

He lighted his pipe and meditatively blew out a stream of smoke. Tongass laid his muzzle on his master's knee and, looking up, sighed gustily.

"You're right, old chap. Our position is both perplexing and regrettable. Here we sit, hearts overflowing with love and kindness, eager to be friends with all the world—and our world ignores us. She has spurned our tergiversant possibilities; she refuses to respond to our wit, our philosophy, our vigorous wagging of the olive branch. The bouquet, as it were, of our delectable personality is less to her than the rug beneath her feet."

His darkly luminous eyes turned and seemed to dwell on the toes of Denny's silver sandals. She wondered what was coming next.

"Did you ever notice, Tong, how little and beautiful her feet are? So slender and small a man could cover one with his hand. . . . and might gladly find room for both of them to dance upon the bare table of his heart."

None of the men Denny knew had ever talked like that. Though she was sure he was merely amusing himself with her, she felt a flush race up her throat and face, and bled, devoutly, that the firelight might hide it from him.

After an expectant silence, he put his pipe down on the smoking stand and resumed sadly, "No progress. She scorns our conversation. She's deaf to our soliloquies. What other pleasing accomplishments have we to exhibit? Do you recommend that we recite?" With serio-comic attentiveness he bent an ear to the husky, who obliged with a short, subdued "Woof."

"Agreed. We elucate."

While Tong, with side-turned head, watched him in worshipful approbation, he declared:

"A flim-flam flopped from a fillamalo, Where the pollywog pinkled so pale; And the pipkin piped a petulant 'pooch,' To the garrulous gawp of the gale."

"Woof! Woof!" applauded Tongass, thumping the floor with his tail.

The ridiculous team work of the pair made it almost impossible for Denny to keep a straight face.

"The applause from the gallery is much appreciated," Bourne said, in deep Thespian tones; "but there is a regrettable lack of response from the Golden Horseshoe. Can it be that we lack the arts to please so fair an audience? Perish the thought! In our repertoire there still remains a knack for acrobatics and the ability to vocalize. The latter, one feels, should be the more pleasing accomplishment. So we shall sing for the lady, Tong."

Very softly he began to sing an absurdly simple kindergarten rhyme.

Though Denny sat calm and outwardly indifferent, the man and his absurdities had stirred a dozen conflicting emotions in her. She was fighting against Bourne's diabolically calculated appeal and feeling inexplicably resentful be-

Salineville Presbyterian Church
To Celebrate Centennial Sept. 26

SALINEVILLE, Sept. 10 — The United Presbyterian church of Salineville will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its organization on Sunday, Sept. 26.

The congregation originated in what was known as the Clark's Mill Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, located about three miles southeast of Salineville in 1837. In 1869 a union with the Free Presbyterian congregation of Salineville was consummated and the result was the present United Presbyterian church.

Part of the Clark's Mill group withdrew and formed what is now known as the Grant Hill church, located in Jefferson county on the Irondale-Bergholz road.

The celebration on the 26th will consist of three sessions. Dr. H. J. Rose who was reared in the Grant Hill church will speak in the morning service; Rev. C. Y. Love, Newville, Pa., Rev. Ross Wilson, Cadiz, and Rev. H. G. Snodgrass, Conaway, Pa., all former pastors of the congregation, will have part in the afternoon and evening services. Rev. Ralph S. Elder is present pastor.

Other Salineville churches will unite in the evening service. Special music has been arranged. Lunch will be served at noon to members of the congregation and to visitors. Lunch will also be served to visitors who remain for the evening session.

Sabbath school will be at 10 a. m.; church at 11 a. m.; afternoon program at 2:30; evening program at 7:30. Former members and friends are invited to attend.

THIS WONDERFUL FRUIT FARM MUST BE SOLD ON ACCOUNT OF SICKNESS

This farm is known as the Chal Miller fruit farm and is located about 6 miles from Salem, one mile from Garfield and two miles from Damascus. Has 57 acres of land. It is improved with a fine 10-room house. Finished throughout in hard wood, also hardwood floors. Has bath, furnace and electricity. Under slate.

Another 5-room house with electricity. Large bank barn with straw shed and all under slate. Also has a fruit storage. Has 600 apple trees, just coming into their prime. Very best varieties, such as Stayman, Winesap, Jonathan, Baldwin, Grimes' Golden and several other varieties for home use. Has separate peach orchard of about 500 trees with a very good crop. About 200 pear trees. Remember, this is a first-class location in a fine neighborhood as well as a beautiful home in which to live. Children are hauled to school. The farm is priced at only $10,500 for quick sale.

The fruit this year will mean a lot. This farm would be cheap today at three times this price for anyone who knows fruit. So, if you are interested, see me for more particulars.

Holdup Participant Held For One Hour And Then Released

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10. — John Brook, 43, Tulsa, Okla., was sentenced by Federal Judge Paul Jones late yesterday to serve one hour in the custody of a U. S. marshal for his part in a $46,000 mail robbery.

Postal inspectors told the court that only through Brook's cooperation was the government able to apprehend and convict 12 other persons in the wild west style mail train holdup at Garrettsville, in 1935.

Brook, who admitted he tossed the mail bags from the train while other members of the band quelled the train crew, said he would leave Cleveland immediately for a farm "out west."

Members of the Alvin Karpis gang were convicted of the robbery. Karpis and his limping aide, Harry Campbell, are serving life terms in Alcatraz prison for kidnapping.

Policemen Spank Traffic Violator

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 10. — Policemen Homer Gouette and Michael Tosca didn't bother to take one reckless driver to court—they spanked him instead.

The offender was five-year-old Anthony Corona, who stepped on the starter of his brother's car, sending it backward through a yard and across a street into a parked automobile.

ONCE . . . THE CHILDREN'S EYES

Were not considered AT ALL, and they are still not considered enough. Parents are giving the subject of their children's sight more attention than they used to, but it is still the truth that many children, especially of school age should be equipped with glasses. We are particularly interested in the welfare of children who may need our help.
